Buddy System

It talks about how to organize a buddy system for person with intellectual disabilities who starts a university

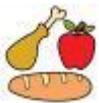

The university should pair a person without disability to a person with intellectual disabilities.

The student is there to help the person with intellectual disabilities to get around the university.

Both the person without a disability and the person with disabilities can do the following things together:

Have dinner together

Go bowling together

go food shopping together

Do sport together

This way the person with intellectual disabilities and their buddy will get to know each other better.

A person with intellectual disability has to be able to trust in their buddy if they do not feel safe

For a student to be paired with someone who has an intellectual disabilities has go to through an interview.

It is a very good thing that a person with intellectual disabilities gets put together with someone who does not have a disability.
